Preparing Students for the 21st Century Dr. Willard Daggett

President – The International Center for Leadership in Education

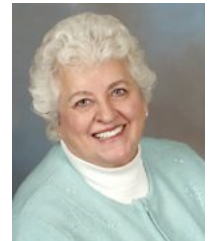

The skills, knowledge, and attitudes 21st century learners bring to our schools and the skills, knowledge, & attitudes they will need to be successful in the technological, globally driven world in which they will live and work have changed dramatically. Dr. Daggett will describe what schools must do to meet these challenges in order to prepare students for their future rather than our past.

The Art and Science of Learning and Teaching Susan Kovalik

President and Founder – The Center for Effective Learning

The Art and Science of Teaching is the ability to orchestrate the classroom in a highly effective manner so students can clearly see the goal, both large and small, while developing their human capacity. By design, we are born to learn – the brain innately knows what to do! Recognizing the unique capacity of our brains allows us to do what no other species can accomplish. Discover how engaging and relevant Brain Compatible Education is while preparing our students for Responsible Citizenship – the ultimate goal of highly effective education.

Rediscovering Your Joy Barbara Pedersen

President – C.L.A.S.S. Education, Inc.

Barbara Pedersen is an educational leader, classroom educator, and motivating force for thousands of educators across the country. As an expert in brain-based learning, a recipient of several awards including the Christa McAuliffe Fellowship, and author of multiple educational resources, Barbara strives to help educators discover themselves as professionals and establish the power of teaching. We invite you to hear Barbara as she continues to fulfill her mission of serving the educational community to better the lives of our future generations.
